

Synopsis:

USES OF THE 17¢ PREXIE

Purpose: This first-time exhibit will demonstrate the surprisingly wide variety of ways in which the 17 cent Prexie stamp could be utilized on covers, wrappers, labels, and documents to pay rates to domestic and foreign destinations. Both solo uses and multiple uses are shown.

Scope: The exhibit is limited to items with one or more 17 cent prexie stamps but no other denominations.

Treatment: The items are organized as described on the title page. The description of each item shows the date sent, the rate paid, and the time period for which the rate or rates were in effect. Some fourth-class items are undated, but the time period in which they were used can often be extrapolated by the zone and amount paid.

Knowledge, study, research: I have been collecting, studying, and researching prexies for the last thirty-five years, and been a member of the United States Stamp Society Prexie Study Group.

Rarity: There is no census information available. When I state that an item is “the only one reported” it is the collective knowledge and experience of myself and others Prexie students such as Bob Hohertz, Louis Fiset, Jeff Shapiro, Chip Briggs, Steve Suffet, Mike Ley etc. They have all been given the opportunity to weigh in on these items. The highly regarded Bob Hohertz website listed in the references illustrates eight solo uses. This exhibit shows twelve all-different solo uses and thirteen multiple uses. Bob has requested scans of many of these items to make his website up to date.

Condition: When there is a choice, the finest condition possible is shown. Some items are unique or nearly so. In such cases the condition is what it is and has to be accepted.

The 17 cent Andrew Johnson stamp of the 1938 Presidential (Prexie) series was issued on October 28, 1938, There was no single 17¢ rate at the time but the denomination was required for the new Presidential series because Johnson was the country's 17th president.

This exhibit shows the wide variety of ways the 17¢ Prexie was used. Twenty-five items are shown, with no two items alike. All are franked with one or more copies of the 17¢, but no other postage stamps. Twelve of the items included are solo uses of the 17¢, all needing different multiple weight rates and/or combinations of rates that add up to seventeen.

Many items in this exhibit are extremely rare. Those that are the only or one of two reported examples are triple framed in rose red.
